UFO SIGHTING OVER PORTSDOWN HILL, PORTSMOUTH.

Well folks another packed edition (In fact an extra 2 pages just to get it all in !!!) with some interesting reports and some great things happening in the SUFOG 2004 calendar. But first of all I would like to wish our Public Relations Officer Mr. Ernie Sears a happy 80th Birthday (14th June 2004). Ernie has put a lot of work into the group and has supported it since I started the group back in 1992... Although we have had hard times, Ernie has stuck by the group (Unlike past members who's name we no longer speak of) and I wish him good health for the future.

This edition looks at the UFO photographed over Portsdown Hill in April 2004. What is fascinating about this, is that 30 minutes earlier, the same object, again photographed, but 200 miles away in Nottingham !!!! There was the sad passing of Lord Hill Norton and there is an item written by Nick Pope that gives a short history of Lord Hill

Norton's involvement within the UFO field.

This past few months has seen an upsurge in TV and radio companies contacting me for interviews or for the possibility of appearing on TV programs. The word must be getting around about SUFOG, or, now with UFO Magazine (Quest International) no longer in the public eye, who does the Media now turn to.. Hopefully more updates in the next edition of the newsletter. There is also details about our New Forest Skywatch at the end of July and details about our August Avebury weekend Skywatch not to be missed.

Keep watching the skies and please think of ways of attracting new members....

 Subject: Disappointing Release Of UK's
 New UFO Monthly Magazine...

I just reviewed the first issue of the new UFO Monthly online magazine in PDF format which is free just for this time and is being published from the UK by Gary Heseltine and Russel Callaghan.

I must say that I had good expectations for this new informative publication and finally they released this issue dated April 27, 2004. The issue begins with a report of the recent 13th Annual International UFO Congress Convention and Film Festival that took place in February 8 - 14, 2004 in which I was honoured to be invited and gave a conference.

Unfortunately the announced report covered only my conference and my friend's Haktan Akdogan, researcher from Turkey even that there were other important speakers like Bud Hopkins, Roger Leir, Jim Marrs, George Filer etc.

In his reviews Russel Callaghan just debunked both of us. In my case I was expecting something like this from Russel due to personal conflicts that obey to vested interests derived from my involvement in the research of several UFO cases in the UK since 2001.

I'm convinced that Russel motives for his debunk of my work is purely personal and I accepted the challenge when I was going to meet him again in Laughlin two months ago. Russel words now confirm this fact in his supposedly review of the second case I presented of Miss Parker's experiences. I will quote Russel words to prove he is just following a certain sorrow and anger towards Miss Parker and myself instead of being objective and analyse my lecture on this case as he announced.

QUOTE: " Although I found some of this material interesting and unusual I couldn't help remembering Abbey Parker promising to send me all her footage for evaluation during my time in UFO Magazine, a colleague of hers had sent me some internet quality clips that looked good with the promise from Abbey that I would get the original videos to enable me to carry out proper research and evaluation. After many emails I was finally informed that she had decided to give her material to Santiago and apologized for messing me about."

This short comment was the review of my presentation on this case. Nothing about the testimonials, videos, photos and facts that I exposed to the audience during almost half hour of my whole conference. It's clear to me that Russel was more interested in express his disappointment for not being able to handle this case.

But this situations are common in our ufologic community and interests conflicts are always present. I know this and accept the consequences. Despite our differences I still consider Russel Callaghan a friend unless he decide the contrary.

What I can not accept under any circumstance is the offensive comments he wrote about the audience gathered at my conference including media representatives, congress directors and colleagues researchers, some of them from the UK. I quote again Russel Callaghan words in reference to the audience that attended my conference on Saturday 14, 2004.

QUOTE: " I don't want this to sound like I am debunking Santiago's work, I am not, the authenticity of what is presented must be a personal decision, although I feel if I had presented such a material at a lecture here in the UK and made similar claims, unlike the US audience who "whooped and cheered" and sent Santiago off with a standing ovation, I think I might well have been dodging rotten tomatoes. Like the differences in our sense of humour it seems the Atlantic ocean also divided our sense of objectivity "

I found this statement from Russel highly offensive and very serious for the people that year by year gather together with great expectations and good faith at the International UFO Congress. For the congress and their directors that have opened their doors for us researchers to present our work and release our investigations. Even for the respected colleagues that coincided at the conference room this year. To declare or suggest that all of them are just a bunch of naive morons that have not the criteria to judge and evaluate the content of a conference is a very serious statement.

For Russel Callaghan "all of them are wrong, I'm the only right "position reveals only his arrogance and twisted point of view of things. Russel even has the daring of adopt all the British people's criteria to fit his own illusory posture as supreme exponent of the infallible knowledge.

Russel forgot conveniently to say that I also received three standing ovations in Leeds, England after my conference in the congress by the UFO Magazine and the audience reacted freely following their own impulses which I feel honoured and grateful. Audiences can not be deceived easily as Russel suggests, it doesn't matter if they are in the US, the UK or anywhere.

Among the audience during my conference at Laughlin there were several colleagues researchers and friends from the UK. They even invited me to give a lecture next year and congratulated me for my conference. To imply that these persons are ignorant without criteria is just nonsense.

In my personal point of view Russel Callaghan made a terrible mistake and exposed himself as a disoriented and bitter person. Too bad how he has lost the track of respect and good manners since the collapse of the UFO Magazine. His offensive words require an immediate public apologize, not for me but for all that people gathered at the Laughlin conference and made that reunion one of the most memorable of all times in the IUFOC history.

It's now clear to me that Russel Callaghan will use this new publication UFO Monthly as a tribune just for his personal private intentions disguised in a premise of total objectiveness but in reality following a hidden agenda. This is my personal point of view. About the subscription for the publication this is what I think : Not a single dime.

Santiago Yturria

(Well, you have one view of the new publication and does Russel have a point ?)
Two major British cases have been investigated by Santiago - How would he feel if British researchers went to Mexico to investigate cases and didn't include him or the local research groups? There is a lot more to both the Abbey Parker and Anthony Woods case that Santiago is not aware of or hasn't even researched correctly I.e. appeals in the local press and media for further witnesses springs to mind... Still, lets let sleeping dogs lie, because certainly there is information available, that could and will blow both Parker and Woods cases out of the water..

I thought UFOlogists are supposed to work together and help each other. Obviously, some researchers have different ideas.

Audio Transcript - James Whale Radio show on Talksport Radio in England at www.Talksport.net - 12.30a.m - 21/4/04 :

James Whale " yes Tom you're on the air ."
Tom " There's a UFO book in progress - it won't be out until sometime around Autumn or Christmas time - it contains stuff that is going to blow your socks off . Now I've managed a sneak preview of this but I can't tell you how I got it but I will tell you what I know from it . Now what really looks exciting is that some of the contactees are now being left with a small device which looks like a miniature traffic beacon & it flashes a green light on & off . Now this device is often left on a desktop or window sill but the contactees can't get hold of it . Now what this green light does apparently is that the following morning the contactees can read the minds of all the people in the street but this is very unsettling to them as it leaves them in a paranoid state. Well it would obviously as out thoughts are private to each other . Now fortunately for them - for the contactees this state only lasts about 3 days & then it goes . Now apparently the UFO visitors live in this state all the time & that is why they know everything about us & apparently our souls also give off an aroma which they can detect. So I think James it's definitely got more legs to run & a knew evolution is taking place . "

James Whale " where did you hear this Tom? "

Tom " well it's by a guy that I follow I've given his name a few times on the air but I'd rather leave him out until the book comes out because he might stop it in progress . Apparently they even know he's writing it & they're helping him . "James Whale" do you know him very well or not Tom? "

Tom " no I don't know him but ... "

James Whale " He's got one of these beacons from the extra-terrestrials? "

Tom " well apparently this is what's strange about it - you can almost touch it but when you go to touch it - it doesn't evaporate - somehow you don't grab it or you go back to bed - it's part of the strangeness of the whole thing but this is a new thing that's just been developed now . Apparently it's probably some sort of interaction between them & us . If they try to face us head on it would destroy our minds . "

James Whale " would I know if I had one? Yeah I suppose I would wouldn't I? I'd see it on the desk . "

Tom " I suppose you would yeah . "

James Whale "well, when you know more about it tell me more - get back in touch alright?"

Tom " right - there's also going to be some news about the ancient Tarot decks - apparently we've been using them in the wrong form & there's a whole new way that we can use them & we can come into contact . "

James Whale "Really? "

Tom " yeah , so it's all good stuff coming out . "

James Whale " alright Tom than you "

Tom " alright James . "

James Whale " Bye "

Tom " Bye , no trouble . "

End of phonecall

James Whale "So there we are , Tom's got his finger on the pulse , he knows where the aliens are & he'll tell us . "

So at about 21.00 we are sat out, heat is a bit oppressive, sat out in the garden, lights out, cup of tea, cool place to be . . . it's a clear night, pushed back the lounge, gazed at the stars . . . "Wow!" Look at that meteor! . . . Sure enough, we both see the proverbial "Shooting star" . . . Magic . . . See a couple more and high flying jets . . . even a couple of satellites . . . It's that sort of evening . . . Ideal to lay back, chill-out and star watch . . . sound system softly playing in the house, frogs croaking in the pond.

"Did you see that!!!" says Sue. I'm looking the wrong way - (Of course) . . . She had seen three lights, in a triangle formation shoot across her eye-line . . . North East to South West . . . Faster than anything she had ever seen before . . . I kid you not . . . It left her shaking . . . We discussed all the options . . . but ended up with the original question, "What the * was that?"

From then on, we sat in the garden most evenings . . . Not really to "UFO" spot, but to enjoy the coolness and watch the stars . . . Anyway, this Wednesday evening circa 21.30, there we are, pot of coffee, all the house lights are off . . . Gurney Road is peaceful . . . Clear sky . . . Frogs in the pond . . . All is good . . . Plenty of stars . . . No sign of any meteors . . . The Bruch Violin Concerto playing on the CD . . . Suddenly, reprise of the previous Wednesday . . . "What the * was that?"

This time we both saw it (or them) . . . My first close encounter of the first kind. This is what we saw, with the X-file embellishment!

5 "glowing" lights, the only way to describe them, like 60 Watt bulbs seen through a mist, but there was no cloud. It was a clear, sharp night. They came across our vision from horizon to horizon, in a dead straight line, parallel to our road. North East to South West.

How high? Job to tell. Having no idea of size we could work not work out height. I feel they were higher than an Air-UK coming into land at Eastleigh but not as high as a jet heading for Heathrow.

Speed? Breathtaking, faster than anything I had seen flying before. To cover the distance from horizon to horizon, 4/5 secs.

"They" weren't planes, "They" weren't helicopters, "They" weren't birds. Too fast. Totally silent, "They" bore no relation to anything I've seen before. We are convinced "They" were five separate "Things" . . . Although they flew in formation . . . A group of three in a triangle and two to the left, one behind the other. What made them seem separate and not joined in anyway was the way they moved independently. They moved at the same speed, same height, but "jiggled" around as they were trying to pass one another. I have never seen anything like it before.

The only thing they could have been were laser projections of some sort . . . but they didn't pass by in an arc . . . They "flew" dead level from horizon to horizon. The other puzzle is, why just see them on a Wednesday, at half past bloody nine!

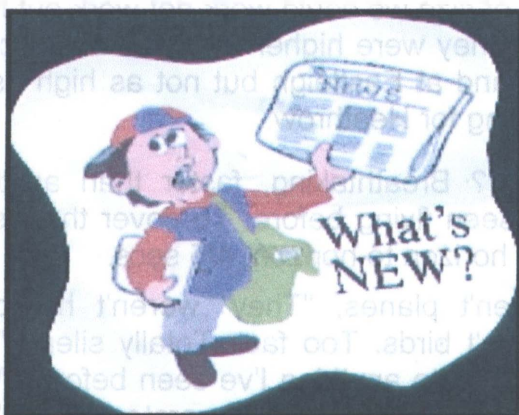

We were puzzled to say the least. I've never been a UFO nut, but always kept an open mind, this "sighting" has got me beat.

The next day, I 'phone a few numbers, as much to see if anyone wanted to keep a record, some local society maybe. Tried the airport, not interested, they pass me onto Air Traffic Control at Swanwick, not interested, they pass me onto the Civil Aviation Authority HQ in London, they try and put me off, saying there is no record of this type of thing kept, "By anyone".

I moan on a bit, say that "I can't be the first person with an enquiry of this nature?" "What a moment," says the voice, a couple of minutes pass, then "Try this number " "Who will I be speaking to?" "The UFO Dept" says the voice at the other end. "Are you taking the piss?" says I. "Certainly not," said the voice, and hung up . . .

So I tried that number and got a recorded message which said . . . I'll stop there! Let you call the number, and hear the message.

The number  and the above story are genuine. Rod and Sue would welcome an explanation to the sighting . . .

English Bay, Vancouver, British Columbia
Date: April 28, 2004 Time: Approx: 10:45 p.m.

A call came in from two witnesses who were sitting in their car at English Bay, British Columbia. They reported that they were watching three unusual objects and giving me the description over the phone as they observed them. The witness said she was watching the objects through her binoculars and said the one object was huge and the other two a lot smaller. The large object was circular in shape, bright white and filled with what she described as darker dots. In the center of the object there was nothing, or one would be able to see through it. The object was also rotating and had two smaller objects flying around it. One of the crafts was reported to be triangular in shape and the other again more circular. The triangular craft would move a distance away from the larger object, makes sudden turns and at times they were able to observe the full triangular structure and at other times see it being flat. The smaller circular object would travel around the triangle shaped object and also move around the circumference of the larger object. The witnesses were facing west when observing the three objects and added that whatever these things were ... they seemed to be at a good distance from them. The skies were completely clear.

Smithers, British Columbia Date: April 16, 2004
Time: 10:30 - 10:45 p.m.

A witness came forward and called me from Smithers, B.C. after she read a short article in the Smithers Interior Newspaper about a sighting of a pink object which was witnessed by another lady over the Smithers Ski Hill road on April 8,

The witness was on her way to work as she works the graveyard shift. As she traveled around a corner on Harris Road by Harris Auto Wrecking she saw a extremely large bright pink object low in the sky. The lady said she had never seen anything like it in all the years she lived in the area and also wondered if it might have been an airplane coming in for a landing at the Smithers airport. She told me the object had to have been the size of a full moon and on the outer edge of the object the color was a much lighter pink in color. As the woman drove along she said it passed overhead at approx: tree top level and at approx: 100 to 200 feet away from her in distance. As the lady and the object passed one another she slowed her truck down and turned round to watch the object move slowly into the distance and as she watched it finally just blinked out. When the woman continued on her journey, after seeing the strange object, she told me that she was questioning herself, "did I just see that"!

Later that evening and at her work place, her and another lady went outside for a coffee break and the witness mentioned that she had seen something very strange when she was on her way to work.

I asked the lady if she thought it might have been a flare or even fireworks someone had maybe set off. The witness said she has never seen a flare or fireworks travel horizontally just over tree top level and for such a long distance. There was no sound noted. The object was reported to be visible for approx: one minute.

This same object has been seen twice on two different occasions in the Smithers area.

Action, Ontario Date: April 24, 2004
Time: 8:30 p.m.

A witness called to file a report on what he and his wife saw back on April 24, 2004 at 8:30 p.m. The witnesses also said they took photos of what was witnessed which was numerous lights flying around the sky in an unusual formation.. The gentleman's wife was the first to spot the strange lights from an upstairs window. The lady called to her husband and when he got to the window she asked, "what is that"? The husband first thought it was an airplane a fair distance away from them but moving closer towards their direction.

What started the couple thinking, was that whatever it was, moved along the horizon and eventually passed from their line of sight due to a large pine tree which got in the way. Shortly after they lost sight of it, it came back into their view and again sat stationary. Six to seven minutes later the object still remaining stationary the two witnesses noticed two more smaller lights which appeared on either side of the larger light which they had already been observing. Seeing this was turning out to be really unusual the couple jumped into their car to see if they might be able to get a better look at the objects. They eventually reached a good location as to where they could watch the lights. They had pulled off the highway beside a farmers field and this is when they started taking the photos of the objects. The fellow told me at this point he is a bit of a skeptic when it comes to these matters, but after watching the strange lights in the sky he is re-thinking the whole topic on UFOs. Still observing the three lights, one of the smaller objects shot off away from the larger object at a incredible rate of speed. While still watching, another light which was sitting stationary, started to flicker out. Then all of a sudden in about 2 seconds it was in another location of the sky hovering. Another light appeared, taking the place of the light that just had flickered out. In total there were 5 to 6 lights sitting in the sky at one time.

The fellow said it certainly was a formation of lights, one large one and all the rest were smaller in size. The large light was extremely bright and the other smaller ones were a lot dimmer. The couple were certainly baffled over what they were seeing.

British Sightings By Astronomers

From: PORTSMOUTH NEWS, Hants.,
July 4th, 1984.

U.F.O. mystery baffles South

A U.F.O. seen over southern England last night has left experts baffled.

Britain's top boffins today were trying to solve the mystery of the object, which was about 25 miles high and visible for 20 minutes.

It was first seen by Worthing astronomer, Mr. Graham Boots, who thought it was a nova - a super-bright star.

He called out other astronomers along the South Coast who watched the stationary phenomenon in the northern sky until it suddenly split up - and vanished.

Mr. Boots reported the sighting to the Royal Greenwich Observatory at Herstmonceux, East Sussex, home of Europe's largest telescope.

A spokesman there said today: "We don't know what it was, and it is still under discussion."

Said Mr. Peter Seiden, of Paignton Avenue, Copnor, Portsmouth, a member of Portsmouth Astronomical Society: "It was a most unusual object. Because it was stationary for so long, we can dismiss meteors and artificial satellites and, because of its calculated height, then helicopters and aircraft can also be ruled out."

Astronomer Patrick Moore was today "baffled and intrigued" by the U.F.O.

"In the ordinary way, I am extremely skeptical about reports of flying saucers. But this light was seen by people who are amateur astronomers and who know what they are doing," he said from his home at Selsey.

"This one has me baffled and intrigued, and I would like to hear from anyone who saw it."

The Death of Lord Hill-Norton.

I'm sorry to have to report that Lord Hill-Norton died on Sunday, aged 89.

Admiral of the Fleet The Lord Hill-Norton G.C.B. was a former Chief of the Defence Staff and Chairman of the NATO Military Committee, who in his later years became greatly interested in the UFO phenomenon.

His long and distinguished naval career included active service on Arctic convoy duty during the Second World War, command of a destroyer during the Suez Crisis, and a later posting in command of the aircraft carrier HMS Ark Royal.

His interest in UFOs came after his retirement, and he wrote forewords to a number of Timothy Good's books, including Above Top Secret and Unearthly Disclosure. He was particularly interested in the Rendlesham Forest incident, and worked with Georgina Bruni on this. He asked her to draft some questions which he subsequently tabled in Parliament, trying to elicit an official response to what he felt were a number of important defence and national security issues raised by the events.

I briefed him on several occasions, which could be quite challenging. Many staff officers and journalists found him difficult, especially if they didn't quickly get to the point. He was passionate about the Royal Navy, UFOs and a wide range of other subjects. When I called on him last summer, on my way back from a holiday, I found him as lively as ever. He had taken an interest in a UFO sighting involving military witnesses on HMS Manchester and had asked me to update him. He told me that despite the frustrations, he intended to remain involved in UFOlogy for as long as he was able.

Lord Hill-Norton appeared in several UFO documentaries and was frequently quoted on the subject in the media. Again, he could be quite outspoken and was often highly critical of the Ministry of Defence's policy on the UFO phenomenon. Those list members in the UK will be able to see what I believe was his last TV interview on UFOs next Wednesday evening, on Channel Five's new documentary, The British UFO Files.

Lord Hill-Norton was a great friend to UFOlogy, where the active support of someone of his rank was without precedent. He will be sadly missed.

Oxford Conference 1st August 2004.

Hi everyone,

Firstly my apologies for this impersonal means of communication. But as I have only recently returned to this country after 13 years I know only a couple of you.

The reason for this email is to invite you to a conference that I am organising in Oxford on the 1st August 2004. This is the web page, but please bear in mind it is still under construction:

www.oxfordtalks.com

Speaking will be Mary Rodwell, Ann Andrews and another (who has yet to confirm).

Mary was due to speak at the last UFO mag conference in Leeds until it was cancelled under the sad circumstances. She phoned me recently to tell me she was coming so I thought I'm sure there are many people who would like to hear and meet her. Hence the conference.

Ann is also a friend she wrote the lovely book 'Abduction' all about her family's ongoing experiences. Her second book is due out later in the year.

For a limited time I am offering one free ticket to bonafide officers of each UFO group (limited time only because I have to make some money from sales to cover the costs). If you would like to attend please email me including your name, group's name and office and how many tickets you would like.

This is the first advertisement for the conference and I'm sure tickets will go very quickly so please let me know ASAP.

Ticket prices are £10.00 in advance and £15.00 on the door.

Looking forward to meeting everyone

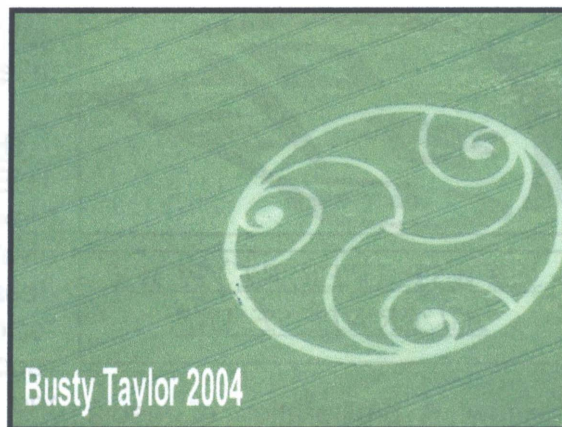

Best wishes

phone me and I can see who else is going that maybe able to offer a lift. If you are coming and want a map, then let me know. I will have my mobile phone with me on the night and if you want the number, then please let me know.. I will be taking a disposable barbeque with me so if you want something hot, then bring it along (I.e. hot dog / Burger—please provide your own including rolls etc). Also, I hope to have a gas burner for hot water during the night for hot drinks etc (Please bring your own tea/coffee/milk cup etc etc).

The second event will be on the 14th August, which will be our annual trip to Avebury for a weekend of circle hunting and an all night sky watch in the area of Avebury. Again, I hope to have a couple of disposable barbeque and a supply of hot water and again, please bring your own drink making items along with any food you want incinerating on the barbeque. Again, let me know if you want to come along if you haven't got transport and we will see what we can hopefully arrange.

Lets try and make these two events successful this time round.

NEWSPAPER REVIEWS
BY ERNIE SEARS.

Phew! A proliferation of media items that I have managed to locate in my flat., under a tidal wave of such! So, let's, get cracking. the SUFOG magazine DEADSLINE later today!

PSYCHIC NEWS had a deserved go at a TV exposure of mediumship and another on healing, both of which I'm involved in since the sixties and the late seventies respectively. all part of the paranormal? The mediumistic stuff, hosted by a hypnotherapist, I didn't bother to watch.. and yes. was the usual putdown and loud mouthed sceptics in the studio. The "healing" was more interesting as a well known local healer friend of mine, Andrew McKellar, was in the "hot seat" and PSYCHIC NEWS carried out a fair report I thought. ,Yes, there were the closed minds people and the believers . hosted by presenter Sian Williams who did her best to allow everyone their say. A sceptical couple put healing all down to "hypnotism".. which, if it was true, at least was positive. 'Course healers KNOW it's not that.. I had" proof", and I don't NEED that...at a crowded dance I hosted this last weekend when my 80th birthday bash took place....a slightly disabled friend spent the latter part of a power cut receiving a hands on few minutes and the rest of a happy event dancing like a maniac! There you go! NOW LISTEN! Rest of my cuttings are in a mess.. take 'em as they come!

THE TIMES MAY 20th had a super half page on "IS THERE ANYBODY OUT THERE? sparked off by those Mexico sightings an media photos etc. THE TIMES is always reckoned to tell it like it is.. and six letters in the debate made sense apart from.. naturally.. the "scientist" who allowed he'd be better convinced if the reports were more detailed. He proceeded to list ALL the things he requested for "proof" which ALL our sighting reports have anyway! I wrote back of course but nothing! Stuart Campbell wrote a very reasoned and moderate (for HIM!) on the subject. Other letters quoted interesting personal sightings.

THE TIMES of MAY 19th had a very big and detailed OBITUARY on the passing of our mutual SUFOG and MY friend Admiral of The Fleet Lord Hill-Norton.."-Peter" as some, knew him. Good to see other newspapers credited him with his worthy two decades long of fighting for the UFO TRUTH in the LORDS and the HOUSE OF COMMONS. He was particularly "bolshy" on our group's SOUTHAMPTON WATER videos of 20001 and 2002. His almost last words to me in a letter were that he feared he'd never get 'em to admit the truth and that he'd only KNOW when he got to the "other side"!

DAILY EXPRESS of MAY 22nd had a whole page on GHOSTS.. and "Why I'm Not Scared to admit I Believe in Them".. by Express Reporter Natalie Osborne-Thomason. Seeing a man walk across room, and vanish into the wall, and finding forks etc bent in the cutlery drawer of the same 250 year old millhouse led to her joining the London base Ghost Club etc and much more in her life added to her convictions that we "survive" death.

DAILY MAIL had noted author COLIN WILSON on why HE believed in the paranormal.. another full page article from his new book "Dreaming to Some Purpose"....published by Century at £20

DAILY EXPRESS of the 15th May has the headlined article "Why we all want UFO's to Exist" and sparked off by those Mexico sightings and photos. A reasonably written article but sadly deteriorated into a slightly tongue in the cheek such! Although he might have been right in concluding by saying we ought to be worrying about what we are doing to our planet than thinking about fantasising on irrelevant beings on others!

THE TIMES had a small item on a strange "weather" phenomenon on the 13th May issue. An intense thunderstorm struck Brecon, South Wales, two weeks before that date with a ball of light, ink black clouds, smashing a chimney, hurling bricks onto cars a 100 feet away, and disintegrating into lightning bolts that showered buildings a quarter mile away. Moments later a streak of blue coloured light shot through an office, hit a pipe, and disappeared backwards. Tills, televisions, computers, etc, were badly damaged.

THE TIMES of APRIL 17th said a NASA mission was on it's way to 'check Einstein on relativity'!

THE DAILY MAIL of May 3rd has TWO PAGES by Zachariah Sitchin on that amazing "sculpture" kept from public view in a Turkish museum which is now open for the public to see.. an object resembling a modern "rocket ship" complete with pilot and about three thousand years old. Heralding a new book.. of course!.. by Sitchin "The Earth Chronicles Expeditions".

THE TIMES..THE DAILY EXPRESS ... THE MAIL etc etc ALL carried excellent coloured photos and BIG articles on those Mexican "UFO's" caught on aircraft radar on infrared. All has gone QUIET so far. The incident took place in March of this year, and, if you didn't know, has the eleven objects encircling the aircraft when they went in pursuit.

THE TIMES of May 11th ran a quarter page article on the revised Freedom of Information Act which comes fully into force next January. Supporters hope it will help to rebuild trust (ha ha!) and confidence in politicians and officials. The Times interjects right there 'you're kidding?' We won't get any answer to our questions if they offend the 23 categories to protect various laws. well. no change then? Don't politicians KNOW they've been rumbled? Ages ago!

THE DAILY MAIL,THE TIMES; THE MIRROR, THE DAILY EXPRESS,THE

SUN; all set up articles on the "haunted" dockyard at Plymouth.. and that was where the UFO was filmed in January this year! Now this is nothing new! Even the Royal Navy is investigating as it did with that UFO sighting. Is there, I ask, one of my pet theories being proved again? How UFO encounters might affect "minds" and "minds" become more "receptive" and "open" to normally unseen dimensions?

THE TIMES "Business News" dipped into the paranormal too with an article on the Bank of England's conspiracy theory and on strategy with a photo of a crop circle.. a four petal led "flower" in a circle with three smaller "grapeshots" leading to it.

THE FORTEAN TIMES (I think) had Dr. David Clarke and Andy Roberts presenting their 'regular survey of the latest fads and flops from the world of flying saucery'.. I quote...and 'the media's abduction top 40' etc. On that hue and cry on where best to have a close encounter. We all know where the terrible two stand on that, don't we by now! I must admit to having an AWFUL feeling of sheer GLEE when I look forward to those two being finally, and irrevocably, confronted with the TRUTH...which is OUT THERE but getting CLOSER all the time! They also ask...gluttons for punishment!...'which came first-the UFO sightings or the investigators?'

THE TIMES of June 4th had a full page on that "put up job" TV séance where they said.. via reporter Caitlin Moran...'most of the students looked like gibbering wrecks'.

That's it, then!

Skylarks Helped By 'Crop Circles'

Could crop circles hold the key to reversing the drop in birdlike? Crop circles could finally have found their niche with news that leaving fallow patches in cereal fields could help reverse a decline in birdlike. Skylark breeding rose nearly 50% when small patches of cereal fields were left unsown, a two-year study found. Now farmers are to be offered government subsidies to clear the areas as part of a conservation push. And the trials showed that despite a rise in weeds on the unsown patches, farmers did not lose any yield. Experts say leaving two small patches bare per hectare could reverse a 52% drop in skylark numbers since 1970.

Other species

"Crop circles once fascinated the nation; undrilled patches could be the new phenomenon, and one with a worthwhile legacy," said Dr David Gibbons, head of conservation science at the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds (RSPB). Farmers joining a new scheme in which they are paid £30 per hectare of land are likely to be asked to take part. Environment Minister Elliot Morley said: "I hope farmers across the country will make the most of these patches so skylarks will once again become a common sight on British farmland." Skylark numbers have plummeted by 52% in the UK since 1970. Scientists are also looking at other aspects of nature conservation on farmland, such as grass margins and weeds as a food source. These are expected to help other bird species which have been in decline, such as the yellowhammer and grey partridge. The £3.6m Sustainable Arable Farming For an Improved Environment (Saffie) project received £1.5m from the government as well as cash from the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds (RSPB), the Crop Protection Association and Home Grown Cereals Authority. Last year a rare bumblebee species was found on a Saffie site. Jonathan Tipples, chairman of Saffie and a farmer in Kent, said: "I am delighted that Saffie is demonstrating that farmers can improve the environment on their farms at no cost to themselves."

UK Abduction Study Extension

The United Kingdom's first scientific study into alien abductions started earlier this year. The study is being carried out by psychologists from Goldsmiths College, University of London. It involves administering a range of standard psychological tests, and testing for the psychic abilities often reported by abductees. Identical tests will be given to a control sample matched by age and gender. Finally, detailed interviews will obtain data that may inform subsequent studies.

The study has been extended and the testing and interview phase will now continue until the end of July. Any UK-based abductees, contactees or experiencers who have not taken part therefore have a few more weeks to participate, should they wish.

I've had feedback from a few participants, all of whom told me that they were treated with respect and empathy, and said that they welcomed the opportunity to speak frankly about their experiences.

Witness confidentiality is guaranteed and pseudonyms may be used if requested.

Any abductees interested in taking part are invited to discuss the matter with Julia Santomauro, either by emailing her at apru@gold.ac.uk or by telephoning her on 020 7919 7171, extension 4389.

Exhibition traces UFO signs in Slovakia

The Slovak National Museum in Bratislava recently opened an exhibition entitled Crop Circles displaying the pictograms and agro-symbols that unidentified flying objects have left on Slovak territory.

According to the exhibition's organisers, witnesses have seen round, disk-shaped UFO objects at the site of 85 percent of crop circles here, as well as abroad.

The exhibition displays all the pictograms from Slovakia that have been registered by the Trnava UFO club. "There might have been more, but we have no information on those," said Miroslav Karlík, the club's chairman.

The Trnava club has registered nine locations where crop circles appear, and 178 reports on UFO observations in the Trnava region between 1992 and 2003. Captured on a videocassette and in pictures by amateurs, the display also features photographs from the Bratislava region.

Another part of the exhibition presents the cases of pictograms found in England in the areas of Stonehenge, Crabwood, and Chilbolton. The country is famous for its large number of these formations. At the beginning of the 1990s, around 300 pictograms were found there annually. The exhibition runs until July 25. The museum is located at Vajanského nabrezie 2.

Things looking Up !!!

Just to keep you in the picture (literally), SUFOG has been approached by 2 television companies :

1. Sine television company who are making a program for Sky TV to be aired in 2005 called : The Secret Life of Suburbia.
2. Living TV most Haunted who are looking for photographs etc for a future program.

Fingers crossed that these two events happen and SUFOG get some TV coverage...

Also, I have been invited to speak at the sixth form 'Prideaux Society' on 17th September, at Lord Wandsworth Collage near Farnborough. I have agreed to this and hopefully will be able to give a full report in the magazine after the event.

There are a number of other things that are happening as I type, but I will not mention any of these until the materialize, but just to say that SUFOG will be put on the map where it belongs and whop knows what it will lead to.

UFO in the Havant area?

Bedhampton - Flying Sorcery?

Hago's Concert venues include two in Bedhampton - 1km from Havant. If you search for Bedhampton in google, you'll find that it's apparently a hot-bed of UFO visitation and very little else ...

It would be a shame for visitors to our Concerts to cancel for fear of alien abduction, especially when the concert is for charity. So let us reassure you!

Our Musical Director has lived in Bedhampton for over 25 years and offers the following insights into the reports on the Internet ...

There's an account of a UFO "hovering over a 700 foot drop". The Ordnance Survey Map shows the spot height is 425 ft.

A woman travels to Bedhampton to take her dog to the vet. There are no vets' practices in Bedhampton. She also promises to send a website some video footage. 18 months later it hasn't arrived.

"This area of Havant suffers continuous bad weather time periods" - Oh no it doesn't!

"Havana" - we think they mean Havant - not a lot of attention to detail there, is there?

We'll let you decide, but we haven't seen any UFOs.

Why not? Because (wait for it ...) this is the Haven't Area!

Indeed, we think UFO stands for "Unusually Fanatical Orchestra" ... so, strictly speaking, you can hear a UFO in Bedhampton (but you have to come to one of our Concerts!)

Aliens' Top Holiday Spots... in Beer Firm Survey

By Jude Sheerin, Scottish Press Association

A small Scottish town was today named UFO capital of the UK in a survey. Bonnybridge in Stirlingshire topped a league of 40 "alien encounter" sites in the research. Cley Hill in Wiltshire was the second most "extra-terrestrial-plagued" area of Britain. Third came the Great Orme, the North Wales beauty spot. Researchers found that aliens seemed to be equally fond of the city, with two areas of London — Walthamstow and Lewisham — making the top 10.

Bedhampton in Hampshire also made it on to the list because of several "sightings" filmed by a local man which have never been explained. The survey by Grolsch beer found that as well as UFO-spotters, fire-fighters and police had reported seeing strange objects in the sky.

The deputy provost of Falkirk Council, Billy Buchanan, 55, whose constituency covers Bonnybridge, said he thought the town might be a porthole to another dimension.

"We have two major alien abduction cases here at the moment and my wife and I saw a strange triangular craft the size of a battleship hovering above our house last week for three nights," he said.

There have been more than 60,000 sightings of flying saucers in the town (population 5,500), which has been dubbed 'Costa Del Sol' for little green men.

British UFO Hunters...

A new UFO response has been created for UFOlogists and Skywatchers around Britain. "British UFO Hunters" is designed to speed up the contact between UFOlogists and UFO Investigators in an attempt to capture ongoing UFO activity around the British Isles.

Participating UFOlogists and UFO groups from Yorkshire, Cumbria, Lancashire and Cheshire and Humberside have all recently benefited from this type of networking and any active UFO groups or UFOlogists are welcome to partake in British UFO Hunters.

The existence of the British UFO Hunters can also be useful to people that have a strong interest in UFO studies, yet live in an area with no UFO group or live in a remote part of Britain. Two weeks ago, it was crucial to contact a UFOlogist from the Isle of Man area, yet nobody was available and this situation can only highlight the useful format of a UFO response team. Please e-mail me at: chrissyparr@aol.com if you require any more information.

What's Happened To Weird?

Nessie's turned into a real recluse. The men from Mars no longer pay us flying visits. And the spooks have been spooked. Why have all the sightings dried up? Sean Thomas investigates the mysterious death of the paranormal Ghosts, Nessie, Bigfoot, "little silver men with menacing probes": there was a time we used to hear a lot about these various manifestations of the strange, spooky and suspect. But not any more. In the past few years there has been a spectacular market crash in many kinds of paranormal activity; somehow our world just isn't as weird as it was.

Take the Loch Ness Monster. Since the first modern sighting in 1933, Nessie-watchers have been able to rely on about 15-20 reported sightings a year, with occasional paranormal peaks of up to 40. This January the official Loch Ness Monster fan club admitted that in the preceding 18 months they had heard of a meagre three spottings. "There has been an unusually low number of sightings, all of which were made by local people,"

The History of Einstein's Unified Field Theory

The importance of this issue with UFOlogy is that NASA scientist Paul Hill's 25 year investigation of UFOs was to conclude that some UFOs were alien craft flying by manipulation of the unified field. (see Unconventional Flying Objects, Paul Hill) He had conducted a proper scientific investigation of UFOs, unlike what came out from Project Bluebook.

Now, what I add to this is - the Theory that these UFOs work from has been suppressed, and the people who have been working on the Unified Field Theory have been forgotten.

According to mainstream science establishment- Einstein did not find his Unified Field Theory; but this is just gossip which turns out when one looks into it to be untrue. After opening up a web site on this subject and with my researches, I have found that Einstein was working from the Unified Field Theory as were some of the other scientists of his era. The Unified Field Theory was put forward by a Roman Catholic Priest in the 18th Century: Father Roger Boscovich.

The main History is:

Boscovich -> Einstein -> Whyte -> Baranski -> cover up->Watson with many other side roads.

It is well known that Galileo had problems with the Catholic Church and was sent before the Inquisition; the Church had problems with the theological implications of the Copernican Revolution science. When England became Protestant (a protest at the authority of the Pope) this gave slightly more religious freedom to pursue ideas that the Vatican disapproved of. In this climate Newton came up with his Theory of Universal Gravitation, mechanics and such. The Vatican had to then review its decision about Galileo's science. The priest given the task to look at this issue was Father Boscovich. As a result of Father Boscovich's actions he persuaded the Vatican to accept Newtonian Physics, and this allowed Newtonism to be taught on the Continent of Europe with no religious ban from the Pope.

However, Newtonian Physics was not all it seemed! Father Boscovich had persuaded the Vatican to accept his theory instead of Newton's theory. Boscovich even went to England and persuaded the scientists there to accept his theory.

The majority of science students when taught Newtonian Physics were taught Newton's theory, but as they progressed higher up the academic ladder - the elite learnt Boscovich's theory, still referring to it as Newtonian physics.

So, in the 18th and 19th centuries some people were working from Boscovich's theory and some people were working from Newton's theory.

Then came the 20th Century, and after WWI Einstein became famous with his theories of relativity and his insights into quantum theory. After WWII we have ended up with Physics being taught to science students as being in two parts: Newton and Einstein. This misses out Boscovich's theory completely. The importance of that is -- Boscovich's theory is the Unified Field Theory. And Einstein was working from it, as I discovered as I dug around in the forgotten science literature.

Professor Hawking says no one has found a Unified Field Theory; well I found it in the history literature which the science establishment is ignoring.

Whyte, Baranski and others were working with Einstein on this Unified Field Theory.

Einstein became involved too much in politics in later years (protesting against use of Atom Bomb, and worrying over the state of Israel etc.), and did not pursue as much in science as he did in his youth, however he agreed the theoretical development that Baranski made. Professor Baranski was then teaching the Unified Field Theory to science students in the 60s at Princeton University, after Einstein's death.

But Baranski then died at an early age, and the course was stopped. His students went to work on classified science projects; and then that was it --- the whole subject was forgotten about by the rest of the science establishment.

One can dig a lot of this out from the University Library records. What is amazing is that Baranski's experimental work was far ahead of his time. There are large books at the Library recording citations. The importance of citations is- the number of times a paper is cited in Academia the more important that paper is deemed to be, and then the more chance that writer of the paper has of getting further funding for research. Baranski's papers are mentioned in those books, and they are hardly ever cited: one of his papers is cited only once.

One might think from first impression that since no one is citing his papers much that they can't be very important. BUT that is not the case -- the opposite is true -- the experiments he performed were very difficult to do, and no one is repeating them; as I said his experiments were far ahead of their time. He was performing experiments to see what the effects of radiation was on organisms. As is known - radiation can cause cancer. He was working on the early stages of what became the Apollo Moon Project, and as man goes beyond the protective layers of the Earth's upper atmosphere he gets subjected to higher levels of space radiation; he was looking at a means of protecting the astronauts from cancer. And because his papers don't get cited much, the scientists then develop amnesia about this subject as well as developing amnesia about the History of the Unified Field Theory. If some subject does not get mentioned much, then the "herd" that is the science community think they can forget about it. They are bombarded with information from all directions, and when something stops being mentioned such as Baranski's Unified Field Theory and his experimental work (stops being mentioned because he dies) the science community does not wonder why it stops, they just carry on in a state of sleepwalking and forget all about it.

After creating a web site on what I had discovered about Boscovich, I was contacted by a Senior US Medical Research Director Watson who told me he was working from the Unified Field Theory, and he told me about Baranski.

The methodology of American science is compartmentalisation, which means that everyone doing research only knows specialised knowledge and does not know the overall picture. After spending decades of research into the subatomic realm, and telling fellow scientists about his strange results, he was told by a colleague that his results agreed with what Baranski had been saying. He then checked what Baranski's theory was, and concluded that he had indeed confirmed the Unified Field Theory. Checking back further he found my web site.

The question is how can all of this be ignored? And the answer is that much has changed since the 1950s, discussion in science has now been suppressed when it wanders too far from what is believed. New Scientist (22 May 2004 p 20) reports that 33 scientists have signed a statement requesting more freedom of discussion in science journals on theories of cosmology. They say that in cosmology dissent with certain beliefs is not tolerated, and young scientists learn to remain silent if they have something negative to say because it means withdrawal of funding for their research; anomalous data is being suppressed because of a growing dogmatic mindset; journals will only present one point of view. This "control" has spread to all science topics; money controls what is being said; one agrees with orthodox beliefs and one gets funded; disagree and one loses funding.

Early on in my investigations, I have tried to get this information into certain so-called respected science journals, and found to my surprise just how much is centralised. I contacted one journal and found a reply from an Editor representing twenty or more different journals; so if one cannot get published in one science journal one cannot get published in any of them. The journals are centralised and controlled by one point of view, not allowing dissent. To have forgotten the Unified Field Theory in the way I have explained here, is just a concept that does not fit in with the closed mindset of this money-controlled science establishment.

Portsmouth News 28th April 2004...

Investigator set to probe suspected UFO activity.

UFO enthusiasts have today vowed to investigate unexplained objects sighted over Portsmouth.

John Field, of Newcomen Road, Stamshaw, was one of six people to see an unusual object in the sky above Portsdown Hill on Sunday.

He told The News, 'I witnessed a very long and thin pencil-like object drift across the sky over Portsdown Hill at about 3 p.m.

'It appeared black and had no visible markings. It was shortly followed by two small spotter-type planes.'

The police have no record of the sightings and navy spokesman Simon Smith, based at Portsmouth Naval Base said there were no navy flights at those times.

Now Southern Paranormal Investigations Group led by Bob Schindler is to look into their claims.

Married father-of-five, Mr. Schindler, 35, of Oakshott Drive, West Leigh, said : 'If the object was pencil-shaped and they were looking at it from a different angle it could have been triangle shaped.

Anyone who spots a UFO can contact Southern Paranormal Investigations Group on (023) 9249 9192.

Below is the photograph taken by one witness re-produced with Bob Schindler's permission. I have cropped them both taking out a good proportion of the sky. The one on the left can be compared with the tree and appears to be some way off in the distance. The image on the right has been cropped/enlarged further and does show a pencil-shaped object with no obvious lights, wings etc (It is somewhat distorted, due to the pixelation of the image as it has been enlarged a number of times.

Bob says that it could have been triangular-shaped viewed from a different angle. A very difficult thing to assume as the photograph appears to show an elongated object with no other details. I personally do not think it is a triangle, but, with an image like this i.e. a long way off, small, no discernable things such as wings, lights etc, then anything is possible. But why triangular Bob, what about a square or circular, but triangular ?

Lets see what happens... ?

Steve Gerrard (SUFOG Chairman)

UFO over Portsmouth - The Photograph (Page 19)

Lisa Smith, Carie Smith and Samantha Smith were outside looking in a westerly direction and saw a black tube shaped object. It was hovering at a 35 Degree angle and it stayed there roughly 15 min's and at one point it seemed to turn as if it was pointing towards us. We thought it could have been some kind of advertising balloon so to see if it was attached to anything, we took a few photographs with a digital camera. When we looked at the photographs it did not seem to be attached to anything. Then the object wasn't making any noise and appeared to be hovering in a funny manner. It then moved to the left, which took about 5 min's at this time I was looking down and when I looked up it had disappeared.

It was seen by two people in Cosham, Portsmouth, who were in their garden and they looked up and saw the UFO with two planes flying along side the object. A man from Horndean was in his garden and he got his binoculars out to look at the object. He said that the object was a disc. Someone West Leigh, Havant was in his garden and saw the object and he says it was a disc object too. A lady in her car in Waterlooville, Havant saw the object she says that she stopped her car to look at it over Portsdown Hill, then two airplanes came and it disappeared. John Field from Portsmouth phoned the Portsmouth News up and he told the News 'I witnessed a very long and thin pencil-like object drift across the sky over Portsdown Hill at about 3 pm'. 'It appeared black and had no visible marking'. 'It was shortly followed by two small spotter-type planes'. Barry Jones, Chris Harrison and Rob Schindler are watching the sky over Portsmouth to see if it comes back report from Barry Jones if you see anything that look like this object telephone 02392499192

(I must thank Bob Schindler of SPI Portsmouth for letting me know about this and supplying the photographs. It is nice to know that some UFO Groups and researchers are happy to work with others. It is a pity that other UFO researchers don't do the same. Hopefully if anything else is reported or any follow-up information comes to light, then hopefully Bob will keep SUFOG informed... Steve Gerrard... Chairman).

Same UFO Seen 30 Minutes earlier..

When we thought that the UFO scene was quiet... Only 30 minutes earlier possibly the same object as seen over Portsdown Hill, was seen 200 miles away in Nottingham. In Omar Fowlers magazine OVNI, it carries photographs of an object photographed high in the sky over Nottingham. The object was first seen at 2.30 p.m. and photographed as it glided through the sky changing shape. Eventually, it was lost in the clouds. At 2.50 p.m. Then if by magazine, the same shaped object was sighted over Portsdown Hill in Hampshire at 3 p.m.. Coincidence ? Possibly, the same object ?.. Possible, a hoax ?.. Possibly..

Some has suggested that possibly it was large, elongated balloons launched from an airfield in Southern France. These so called 'balloons' are available on the open market and they are available on the open market or through the internet. So, was the sighting in Nottingham and the sighting in Portsmouth (200 miles apart) these extra-large, helium filled balloons can float for miles and therefore if two were launched together in France, both the wind directions in both sightings was from the SE/NE then it is a good possibility that we are looking at just two extra large balloons... But if not?

Currently the Internet, television, radio and media are buzzing with UFO footage from Mexico. UFOlogy is back in the news and hopefully it can sustain a long period in the face of the nation through the media and groups like SUFOG and magazines such as OVNI.

Remember... We Are Not Alone...

Steve Gerrard...

Through growing contacts, I now have more links to other scientists that were working on the Unified Field Theory, which I need to investigate. I have also found to my surprise that there is still religious influence on scientific theories. Galileo was silenced by the Church as is well known, but now it is supposed to be freedom of science from religious input; but that turns out to be another myth. Looking into the Christian issues around Father Boscovich, I came across a Catholic Priest who came after him called Pierre Teilhard de Chardin (1881-1955); some of his ideas seem connected to the physics of Boscovich, but Teilhard took theological interpretations of that science that caused a lot of controversy in the Vatican; splitting what Catholic clerics believe. He was I think combining the ideas of Boscovich with that of Darwin's theory of evolution, and then talking an interpretation of Christianity that was almost condemned as heresy. (Note: Christian Fundamentalists have strong objections to Darwinism; there being a Creationist movement in America trying to get Darwinism banned from schools; and so this might be a contributing factor to why Boscovich is conveniently forgotten.)

It is just incredible how much can be suppressed in this way; the Unified Field Theory and the presence of aliens on Earth is like an elephant in the room that everyone is avoiding talking about, because if they say anything they don't get paid.

NASA scientist Paul Hill has written a ground-breaking book on UFOs, and the other side of the issue is the suppression of the relevant physics.

This subject is now just branching out into so many subjects, that I am unable to investigate them all, and if anyone else is interested in researching them, please let me know. Research involves digging through the forgotten records in University libraries etc., not everyone's idea of entertainment, but I feel sure that such things as a cure of cancer and who knows what other cures have been swamped in the mountain of paperwork in these places and forgotten. The film Lorenzo's Oil (based on real life) gave an example of how one cure had been forgotten by the experts in this way, and it took ordinary people to rediscover.

BOOK REVIEW By Ernie Sears

The third book in the trilogy by Lisette Larkins landed on my desk via Steve Gerrard, and, being the finished product of my earlier draft edition provided few surprises but once again, as with the first two, Lisette's personal encounter experiences and her advice as to how we ordinary mortals can carry out face to face interaction with ET's as she labels them once again reminded me of my same experiences over many years which "found" me instead of the reverse. Lisette's current book is subtitled "Telepathic Coaching by Enlightened Beings" and this runs through the "course" she offers. Several chapters struck me as amazing. My musical tastes are extremely wide.. from trad jazz since 14 up to country music and classics nowadays. If Steve G. gets to my 80th birthday bash he'll see what I mean! But all of it, Lisette affirms, will reach THE SOUL...and by gosh, I can already vouch for that. I've been urging healing patients to listen daily to, their favourite recordings. An elderly neighbour who'd stopped listening when his wife died two years ago restarted and "contact" via myself gave him the proof of "Life after death" in this very year. The telepathy aspect between the species is the first step to Universal Participation, says Lisette, too. ...and, believe in the profundity of our experiences. She emphasises the "metamorph" phenomenon, which is US after contact. A spiritual ambassador. Well, many readers will identify with Lisette Larkins' "mission". They may recognise THE TRUTH. admits Gary Campbell, club president. "It appears that no tourists at all have seen anything unusual." Then there's the slump in hauntings. Tony Cornell is a vice-president of the Society for Psychical Research, the UK's most prestigious ghost-busting association. Cornell has been investigating ghosts for 50 years but hasn't been using his £8,000 of poltergeist-detecting equipment of late. "The society used to get maybe 60 to 80 reports of ghosts in a year," he says. "Now we get none. None at all. A remarkable decline. It is still very strange."

But the starkest evidence for this general dwindling of weirdness probably comes with UFOs. Earlier this year, the UK's favourite flying saucer fanzine, UFO Magazine, folded due to declining sales. At the same time, Bufo, the top UK forum for skywatchers, ruefully admitted that UFO sightings have been in "steady decline" since the late 1990s. Most striking of all, the British Flying Saucer Bureau has suspended its activities, because the number of sightings has crashed from a peak of around 30 a week to almost zero. Denis Plunkett, the retired civil servant from Bristol who founded the bureau in 1953, says: "I am just as enthusiastic about flying saucers as I always was, but the problem is that we are in the middle of a long, long trough. There just aren't enough new sightings. It is not like being a philatelist. There is always something new to say about stamps."

This isn't just a British phenomenon. In Indiana in the US an amateur association of scientific UFOlogists known as Madar (multiple autonomy detection and automatic recording) has seen a steady and accelerating fall-off in UFO activity since the peaks of the mid-70s. Likewise, New Jersey's skywatchers have openly wondered whether to call it a day. Even the cold skies of northern Norway are bereft: "It's unexplainable," says Leif-Norman Solhaug, leader of Scandinavian skywatching society UFO Nord-Norge. "Maybe people are just fed up with the UFO hysteria."

So where has all the weirdness gone? One explanation that has been mooted, ironically, is the advance in detection-technology. Veteran Nessie-spotters, for instance, claim that hi-tech tourists with their videocams and fancy digital imaging, not to mention their whacking great SUVs parked hard by the loch, have made Nessie shy. The trouble with this theory is that it was the construction of a noisy new road beside Loch Ness in 1933 that led to the very first upsurge in Nessie sightings. As for ghosts or the lack thereof, one theory is that the rampant spread of mobile phones is spooking the spooks. Cornell points out that the fall-off in hauntings has really gathered pace over the past five to 10 years, when cellphones have become ubiquitous. "Humans now occupy all of the electromagnetic spectrum. So maybe the ghosts, or whatever causes them, are suffering from interference." But he adds: "I personally believe the decline in hauntings may simply be because people haven't got time to see ghosts any more. These days people are always rushing around, playing computer games, surfing the net, and such activities aren't great for experiencing apparitions."

As for the dearth of UFOs, several theories have been put forward. Some blame global warming, others argue it is all a government and media conspiracy and that there are just as many as ever. More credibly, sociologists have asserted that sightings are linked to the media in a cyclical way. When TV and Hollywood are interested in UFOs, people will simply look at the sky a bit more: hence the increase in sightings at the time of the X Files, the Twilight Zone, and Close Encounters. Fewer extraterrestrial films and shows might explain our current lack of interest. All the same, such a slump would presumably be short-term - yet UFOlogy hasn't seen a crisis like this for 50 years. And we shouldn't forget that the paranormal "decline" is almost across the board. Could there consequently be a more global explanation?

That is certainly the view of the Fortean Times, the UK's leading magazine of the weird and unexplained. "It is probably the case that there has been a fall-off in reported paranormal activity," says a spokesman. "We think this may be because the ordinary world is so much more threatening, and interesting, than it was a few years ago. These days journalists have wars and atrocities to cover, so they aren't going to be chasing some old poltergeist down the road. This doesn't mean, of course, that there is less paranormality itself, just less coverage of it."

So it's all the media's doing? Not necessarily. Some believe 9/11 and the war on terrorism have seized the dark place in our minds once reserved for ghosts and bogeymen. Walter Furneaux, a clinical psychologist from Brunel University who specialises in the paranormal and parapsychology, says: "To the public the idea of the al-Qaida terrorist, is almost like an alien. We don't quite understand their culture, we don't quite know what they look like, they live far away, and they are a perceived threat, in a way perhaps we thought aliens could have been."

Some, however, see a bright side to all this, arguing that the apparent decline in the paranormal is linked to a decline in credulity; ie we are becoming less gullible. Others aren't so positive. Tessa Kendall is a member of Skeptics, a London association that analyses the paranormal. "Yes, there may have been a drop off in ghosts and monsters," she says, "but there's been a huge upsurge in conspiracy theories; people are more paranoid and wary than ever. So this is, perhaps, how people are now expressing their innermost fears."

The upshot? The next time you see a headless man in the hall, or a cow being taken to Mars, be thankful. It means things may, at last, be getting back to normal.

That means that I have around 500 video tapes for sale. Now I would like to find someone to sell all the video tapes to in 1 go, but this is the real world and really, I would like to get around £10.00 per video tape... £5,000 for all of them... I don't think so. So, it is going to be the great video tape sale, first to group members and then to a wider audience. So, how can you view the list...

1. I can email a listing of ALL the tapes for sale to you and you pick the ones you want and let me know. They will be packed and I will advise you of the postage costs for the tapes. (Purchaser pays for postage.
2. I can send a copy in the post and again the same process as above.

I need to get rid of the tapes purely because I have no longer got the room and I have seen them all and they are just gathering dust just sitting there. I am a bit sad, but, I am more interested in the SUFOG group tapes now and any future ones that we make. I would rather pass the tapes onto those people that would appreciate them and get some enjoyment out of them.

Each video tape is £10.00 each, with £2.00 going to SUFOG for each video tape sold.

SUFOG Video tape Collection...

Over the many years that I have researched the subject of UFO's, I have built up a massive video collection. Some of the programs go back to the 1950's with video footage taken by such famous abductee's as George Adamski. I have many many hours of footage of UFO's, Crop Circles and conference tapes that have either been sent to me or that I have bought over the years. Time has come to draw a line under the collection and look at selling it on. I am going to keep about 20 - 25 tapes that SUFOG have made or been involved for example - Television programs, conferences and any odds and sods.
